

A FLAT BLOWN UP AND MANY SLAIN

FEARFUL ACCIDENT AT CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Electric Flashes and Crashing Glass Cause a Hotel Panic—Habitués of Saloons Are Buried in the Ruins—Score Reported Killed—The List of the Dead.

Cincinnati, May 5.—With a roar and a crash that was heard for miles around the five-story building, 430 and 432 Walnut street, between Fourth and Fifth streets, was blown up at 8 o'clock Monday night.

Gasoline caused the terrific upheaval. Not one brick upon another is left in the front and rear walls of the building, while the adjacent buildings are badly damaged.

It is believed that the dead will number at least a score, while the wounded are three times that number. Following is a partial list of the victims:

The dead:
DAVIS, B. A.
DRACHS, ADOLPH.
DRACHS, MRS. ADOLPH.
KENNEDY, MAMIE.
NOLAND, DAVID, a traveling man.

Ward, J. D., racehorse man, of Toledo, Ohio.

The wrecked building stood exactly opposite the Gibson House and the Johnson House, the guests in which were terribly frightened by the explosion. It appears that only two days ago a new dynamo was put in the ruined building, the force for which was furnished by an engine run by gasoline. The explosion of this fluid caused the disaster. This is one of the things which caused the stampede in the Gibson House, the flashing and cracking of the wires giving the guests the impression that a fire had broken out in the building.

But the people in the hotel were not half so badly frightened as those in the streets. A general stampede to points of shelter was made, and in the hurry and tumult several persons were injured, not only by coming in contact with the falling wires but by dashing against each other in their mad rush for safety.

The building under which the explosion occurred was five stories, four of which were used as flats, and housed a number of families. In the lower part of the building were the saloons of Adolph Drach and Lewis Fey. These establishments were among the finest of the kind in the city, and their patronage came about equally from the best-known politicians, officeholders, and men about town. Being opposite the Gibson House, they were known to a large majority of the traveling public, and in those two places there were at the time of the disaster at least a score of people.

The scene of the explosion was but four doors from the intersection of Fifth and Walnut streets, where the postoffice is located. No part of the city during night or day is more crowded than this, and one can easily understand the terrible panic that seized the thousands in the vicinity when the resounding crash was heard. There was no fire to consume the debris which fell in one solid heap on the victims, but the dust and dirt continued flying for a long time so densely that the work of rescue proceeded with great difficulty. The police and fire department, however, worked like heroes, and materially aided in reducing the loss of life. Expert engineers also directed how openings could be successfully made in the pile of debris, and by this means some of the victims were easily reached. So far, seven dead bodies have been taken from the ruins, and others are still in sight. It is feared, however, that it will be daylight before the last victim of the crash is reached.

One startling incident was the wrecking of a street car that was passing at the time. In the car were fifteen or twenty passengers, and when the crash came the vehicle was almost lifted from the track. The glass in the windows was shattered to bits, and the rush of passengers to escape was something terrible. Five of six of them were badly hurt, but how severely has not yet been made known. The motorman of the car was blown from the platform and fatally hurt.

There was a startling rumor late in the night that eleven officers of the First regiment, Ohio National Guard, had just entered Brach's saloon when the building collapsed. There is some doubt as to the truth of this rumor, but if it be true the men have not yet been reached.

EDITOR MATHIS IN TROUBLE.

North Carolinian Goes to Cuba and Is Put into Jail.

Washington, May 5.—Representative Linney of North Carolina Monday morning received the following telegram from Cyrus S. Watson, a well-known lawyer of Winston, N. C.:

"George Mathis has been caught by the Spaniards and is under a charge the penalty for which is death. Try to save him."

Mr. Mathis was once the editor of the Winston Sentinel and is an influential man in his state. Mr. Linney does not know whether Mr. Mathis was on the Competitor as a newspaper man or as a soldier, but supposes he was on his way to Cuba to fight with the Cubans. Mr. Linney called on Secretary Olney today and was assured that there would be no hasty action by the Spanish authorities.

MORE LARGE GOLD SHIPMENTS.

Eastern Bankers Draw from the Sub-Treasury to Send Abroad.

New York, May 5.—Baring, Magoun & Co. have ordered $500,000 gold at the sub-treasury for the account of Kidder, Peabody & Co. of Boston. Heidebach, Ickleheimer & Co.'s engagement of gold at the sub-treasury is for $1,650,000. This makes the total amount thus far engaged for shipment $2,150,000. All of this gold goes to Germany and is expected to be transhipped to Russia. It is all coin, mostly $5 and $10 pieces. Legal tenders have been deposited at the sub-treasury in each case. Indications point to further shipments this week by Russian account of from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000.

Victim of Christian Science.

Denver, Colo., May 6.—Miss Alice Ida Hall, daughter of a prominent citizen, died on Saturday of typhoid pneumonia, after eighteen days' vain effort to cure herself after Christian Science methods. Miss Hall, with the consent of her parents, secured the attendance of Mrs. Frances Mann, a science healer, and until the hour of her death received no medical or professional aid. Toward the last Mrs. Mann became uneasy and suggested to the parents that a physician might be called if they so desired, but they all expressed confidence in the healer and the methods of the Christian science cult. According to Mrs. Mann, the girl was cured of typhoid, but a heart trouble, of which she was not advised, set in and this proved fatal. Neighbors have requested the coroner to investigate, but owing to the prominence of the family it is believed that nothing will be done by that official in the case.

Funeral of Mother Upchurch.

St. Louis, May 5.—The funeral of Mother Upchurch, widow of the founder of the A. O. U. W., took place Sunday at Masonic hall. Grand Marshall John I. Martin conducted the services, at which were present a large number of friends and relatives of the deceased. At the conclusion of the services the body was escorted to Bellefontaine cemetery for interment by the Select Knights in full uniform and members of the grand and supreme lodges.

Killed Wife and Babe.

Canaan, Conn., May 4.—Edwin Plant of Clayton, Mass., three miles from here, Monday shot and instantly killed his wife, Ada, and then fired a bullet into the heart of his two-weeks-old child, killing it. Plant fled and is now in the swamp near Karkapot River, surrounded by a posse. He refuses to surrender and is holding the crowd at bay.

Ran Into a Washout.

Beatrice, Neb., May 4.—At 3 o'clock Monday morning a Burlington fast freight train ran into a washout two miles east of Liberty, the engine and three cars leaving the track. Engineer Tom Brennan was crushed between the engine and tender, being instantly killed. Conductor Douglas Wilcox, who was in the engine cab, was badly mangled, one leg being torn from his body and the other badly crushed, and he expired in a few moments. The fireman was thrown from the cab, but escaped serious injury.

MILWAUKEE STRIKE GROWS IN SCOPE

THE TRADES COUNCIL WILL ORDER OUT ALL MEN.

Big Strike of the Car Men Is On and Serious Trouble Is Feared—Police Respond to a Riot Call—Over 30,000 to Strike—Mobs Jeer two Officials.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 5.—The strike threatens to assume gigantic proportions. The Federated Trades Council, which includes every labor organization in the city, at a meeting Monday night after a long discussion decided that if it is necessary in order to bring about a settlement of the trouble to call out every member of all the labor organizations.

There are nearly 30,000 members in the trade organizations and labor unions of the city.

It is to be a sympathetic strike. The electrical workers at midnight passed the following resolution:

"Resolved, That we, the members of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers' Local Union No. 2, go out in a body in sympathy with the association of street railway employees."

The plants which will be affected by this resolution are the plants of the street railway company, the Milwaukee Electric Light company, the Badger Illuminating company, and the Pabst and Edison power-houses.

Besides these it is probable that nearly every industry in the city will be tied up.

The Debs sympathetic plan is to be elaborated on, and instead of one business being involved it is proposed to involve everything and tie up the whole city if necessary.

Not a street car was moving in the city Monday.

Over 900 motormen, conductors, repairmen and linemen of the Milwaukee Street railway company struck Monday. The company attempted to fill the places, but failed.

Cars which were taken out were in charge of the officials and inspectors of the company. Not more than twenty men were secured. At 7 o'clock Monday evening the company abandoned all lines. It has advertised for men, and posted a notice that all of the old men who do not report for duty before noon today will be discharged. It announces that it will begin hiring new men, and will run its cars as usual today.

The first sign of trouble in the strike manifested themselves Monday night. Outside of a little jeering at the inspectors who ran the cars there was no demonstration during the day, but Monday night when the streets became congested with people the trouble began.

Alexander Semo, J. Archibald, and John Kelly, inspectors who are in the employ of the street railway company, were followed by a jeering mob of 5,000 to Ladd & Jansen's drug store at Wisconsin and Milwaukee streets.

The crowd continued to grow and surrounded the building.

The inspectors telephoned the police and a patrol wagon and a squad of patrolmen were sent to their rescue. The police cleared a passage without much difficulty and the inspectors were taken to the police station, where they remained for a time before they would venture to walk to the offices of the company.

At the corner of Third and Chambers streets, where one of the company's barns is located, a large crowd gathered shortly after 6 o'clock, and when one of the inspectors appeared running a car there were cries of "scab," and some in the crowd threw stones.

A few windows in the barn were broken, but no arrests were made, and the crowd dispersed quickly.

The executive committee of the union has been in session all day, and sent hourly reports to the committees of the men who were around the barns. The last of these was for the men to stand firm, as the company was weakening.

It is said the company had asked the men to come to its office, but reply had been sent to the effect that the company should now come to the men.

At a special meeting of the Council Monday night an attempt was made to pass a resolution asking the city attorney to use every endeavor to bring about a settlement, but it failed of passage.

Another special meeting of the Council has been called for Tuesday to consider matters pertaining to the strike.

Fifteen motormen arrived from Chicago at 10:30 o'clock to take the places of some of the strikers.

Gov. Morton Presses the Key.

New York, May 5.—The national electrical exposition, under the auspices of the National Electric Light association, opened at the Grand Central palace Monday night. It was opened by the pressing of a golden key by the chief executive of the state, Gov. Morton, which sent out an electric current that discharged cannon in San Francisco, New Orleans, St. Paul, Augusta, Me., and London, England, and the roof of the exposition building. An immense crowd attended the opening.

Honor for Li Hung Chang.

St. Petersburg, May 5.—Li Hung Chang was received by the czar Monday at Tsarkoe palace.

SENATE ATTACKED BY MR. BOUTELLE

THE MAN FROM MAINE CALLED TO ORDER.

Ruling of Speaker Reed Is Then Criticized By the Enthusiastic Advocate of a Big Navy—Senate Takes Up the Peffer Bond Bill—Capital News.

Washington, May 5.—The first skirmish over the senate amendment to the naval appropriation bill reducing the number of battleships from four to two occurred in the house Monday when Mr. Boutelle, the chairman of the naval committee, moved to non-concur in all the senate amendments and request a conference of the senate. Mr. Boutelle undertook to chastise some of the senators for their inconsistency. He characterized the senate's action as "a remarkable change of front."

He referred to the fact that when four battleships were provided for by the house the public mind had been "greatly inflamed and excited by wars and rumors of wars."

The senate, he argued, had contributed largely to this state of the public mind. He rehearsed briefly the war-like message of the president with reference to Venezuela and the precipitate action of the house and senate.

He went on to refer to the "remarkable and extraordinary propositions" advanced in the senate to maintain this "novel and aggressive attitude."

He briefly sketched the bills introduced by Mr. Chandler for the purchase of $100,000,000 of armor material, the resolution of Mr. Hale for calling out the naval reserve and the purchase of vessels, and all the other bills and resolutions introduced bearing on the Cuban question.

He quoted from Mr. Vest's speech in the senate, in which the Missouri senator referred to Spain as a "toothless old wolf," a speech which Mr. Boutelle said caused great excitement throughout Spain.

He was proceeding to read Senator Mills' resolution when Mr. Quigg (rep., N. Y.) jumped to his feet and called Mr. Boutelle to order for violating the rule which provides that members of the house shall not criticize the proceedings in the senate.

"The chair has the impression that the point of order is well taken," he said, amid some applause.

Mr. Boutelle protested against such a ruling, declaring that the idea that a member could not read from the records of the senate or any other legislative body on earth was "a monstrous proposition."

He said that he was amazed at such an infantile point of order.

Speaker Reed explained coolly and courteously to Mr. Boutelle the rule which prohibits members of the house from criticizing members of the senate, and the reasons for the rule.

Mr. Boutelle still contended that the speaker could define his privileges, but the speaker declined further than to say that he could "proceed in order."

With this definite license Mr. Boutelle was not content and again asked the speaker to tell him whether he could read from the record. He did not want to be interrupted again, he said, by the "superserviceable zeal of certain members who bobbed up on every occasion."

Mr. Boutelle then moved to non-concur in the senate amendments.

Mr. Cannon, chairman of the appropriations committee, gave notice that he would demand a vote in the house on the senate amendment to reduce the number of battleships.

SENATE PROGRAMME BROKEN.

Mr. Peffer Insists and Debate Is Begun on His Bond Resolution.

Washington, May 5.—The outlined program for the senate procedure this week was shattered early in the day's session by two unexpected motions. When the intended action to consider the river and harbor bill was attempted it was antagonized by a motion by Mr. Turpie (dem., Ind.) to consider the Dupont election case.

Mr. Mitchell, with considerable display of feeling, sought to prevent this course, but by a nay and yea vote, resulting 32 to 31, the senate decided to take up the Dupont case.

Later an agreement was effected to postpone the matter until the river and harbor bill was passed, the final vote in the election case to be taken two days after consideration was begun.

At 2 o'clock the unfinished business came up in the form of the bond investigation resolution. Mr. Peffer refused to further delay the matter, and his motion to proceed with the resolution was upheld by 39 to 23, thus displacing the river and harbor bill.

Mr. Hill thereupon took the floor and spoke until adjournment.

Woodman's Appeal for Cuba.

Washington, May 5.—Representative Woodman (Ill.) introduced a resolution providing that the house of representatives directly request the president to make immediate proclamation that a condition of war in Cuba is recognized, and that it is the purpose of this government to preserve a position of neutrality, and that the United States will look with especial disfavor on the continuance of any methods of warfare not recognized in the rules of war as practiced by the leading nations of the civilized world. In the preamble it is recited that the executive department of the government has not seen fit to act on the almost universal recommendation of the people as expressed by both branches of congress, "and that the situation in that most unhappy island is becoming a stench in the nostrils of Christendom; the murders, the outrages, the barbarities and horrors perpetrated by the Spanish in Cuba are so notorious that civilization itself stands appalled."

TO STAY HOLMES' SENTENCE.

Coroner Carter of Indianapolis Will Re-open Case of Pitzel's Slayer.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 5.—Coroner Carter has decided to reopen the Holmes case in this city with the aid of Mrs. Holmes, who came here Monday. He will see if something can be done between now and Thursday toward saving the life of the murderer. The special effort of the coroner and Mrs. Holmes is to show that Howard Pitzel was not murdered by Holmes. They believe that if they can prove Holmes innocent of that crime they may be able to get a stay of proceedings in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Holmes said that Holmes was in and out of Indianapolis all the time from September 30 to October 11, and went to Franklin to see her on evenings at 4:30 o'clock, going to the city again the next morning. She had been with him in the city on October 9, and went to the theater that night with him. She saw him last at noon of October 10 at the Circle Park hotel, and he said he was going to Chicago. She said she never saw or knew anything of the Pitzel children.

Coroner Carter says that all the time, according to written statements of witnesses, is satisfactorily accounted for except about six hours of the night of October 10, the night on which the murder of Howard Pitzel is supposed to have occurred at Irvington, and that even is partly accounted for. Howard was seen alive at 6 o'clock that night by Elvet Moorman at Irvington.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 6.—H. H. Holmes, the convicted murderer, has now less than three days to live. Sheriff Clement says the execution will occur about 10 o'clock on Thursday morning. The sheriff asserts that there will be no sensational scene on the gallows. If Holmes has anything to say, it must be said from his cell before the march to the scaffold.

Girl Murdered in a Ravine.

Washington, May 5.—Elsie Kreglo, a white girl 16 years old, was murdered Monday in a ravine near the National Zoological park. The body was found in a small creek about 100 yards from the girl's home. Cries for help were heard by the Kreglo family, and a sister and a colored boy rushed to the scene whence the cries proceeded. They found Elsie standing in a creek of shallow water between two hills. Overcome by the loss of blood and exhaustion she fell back dead into the water before help arrived. The girl's throat had been gashed six times with a knife. No arrests have been made.

Stevens Point, Wis., May 5.—[Special]—Anton and Joseph Cichasz, who are accused of the murder of their uncle, Joseph Cichasz, were examined today and bound over for trial on the charge of murder in the first degree. Elroy, Wis., May 5.—[Special]—Gus Krueger, a farmer living near here, was found with his head crushed, and his legs mangled, beside the road today. A few rods further on lay one of his horses dead, and the other was entangled in the wheel of the wagon. He was driving home, and a runaway occurred inflicting the injuries mentioned.

Mrs. Sailer's Terrible Deed.

Sturgeon Bay, Wis., May 5.—A sensation was created in this city Monday evening by the announcement that Mrs. F. X. Sailer, the wife of a business man, had drowned her two children and then committed suicide by the same method. The woman had gone down the bay shore a distance of three miles from here and had evidently walked out into the bay with her children and held them under the water until life was extinct, after which she lay down and deliberately suffered herself to drown. A fisherman coming from his nets discovered the bodies floating in the water and immediately reported the matter to the city authorities, who went to the scene.

ARE OPPOSED TO WAR.

Arbitration Resolution Adopted by Methodists.

Cleveland, May 5.—The anticipation of a disposition of the woman question called out a large attendance at the general Methodist Episcopal conference Monday morning. The delegates were early in their seats, and the spectators were more numerous than on any previous day.

Bishop Merrill, of Chicago, presided, and the first hymn was announced by Rev. Dr. Hurlbut, of the Sunday School Union. A fervent prayer was offered by Dr. Hurlbut, after which the business of the morning was taken up.

Rev. H. A. Buchtel, of Indiana, desired the episcopal address read in every pulpit. The conference adopted a resolution to send a copy to each pastor.

Dr. Mueller, of Cleveland, presented a resolution favoring arbitration for all English-speaking countries, which was adopted and a copy ordered sent to the president of the United States.

400 PLUMBERS OUT.

Gas and Steam Fitters at Kansas City on Strike.

Kansas City, Mo., May 5.—Four hundred union plumbers, gas and steam fitters went on strike Monday morning for eight hours' work and the same wages paid for nine hours. They include the union employes of the Missouri Gas company and the Kansas City Gas company, which are in the majority.

The strike is in accordance with the notice served on master plumbers two months ago; the propositions of which were finally refused at a meeting of plumbers and employers last Friday. The strikers say they will stay out to the end.

The board of walking delegates of the Building Trades council will meet daily while the strike is on. No action affecting the building trades has been taken, as there has been no attempt on the part of the building contractors to employ non-union men in the places of strikers.

Vice-President Black of the George A. Fuller Company said Monday morning that the contractors are still firm in their determination not to pay a cent more than the old scale.

Fire at Saratoga.

Saratoga, N. Y., May 4.—Fire has destroyed the Adirondack Hotel, Emerson Bank, the music hall and several residences and stores at Warrensburgh, Warren County, entailing a loss of $50,000, which is partly insured.

MUCH WORK DONE BY THE COUNCIL

THE "BURNHAM RESOLUTION" IS ADOPTED.

First Ward People Ask For Gas Lamps—Cannot Abate Alleged Smoke Nuisance—Two Appointments Made—Buildings In the Street—Other Business.

At the meeting held last night the common council:

Received the oaths and bonds of the assessors and health officer.

Received petitions from First ward people asking that gas lamps be lighted on certain streets.

Received the petition of Second ward property owners, protesting that the smoke from the light and power company's stack was a nuisance, but decided that the matter was one over which the council had no jurisdiction.

Heard the report of the city engineer, stating that certain buildings were encroaching on Jackson street in Rockport.

Heard the petition from the men who do the street plumbing, asking that the city pay for the sprinkling of the intersections of streets.

Referred the order increasing the pay of the chief engineer to $600 per annum, to the fire and water committee.

Confirmed the appointment of C. C. Russell as a member of the board of directors of the public library.

Confirmed the appointment of Charles Stark as assistant street commissioner.

Adopted the "Burnham resolution" with one minor change.

Ordered repairs on a number of streets, paid a number of bills, etc.

Alderman Inman was the only absentee. After the minutes had been read, the bonds and oaths of Assessors Hemming and Watt and Health Officer Gibson were received, referred, reported back as in due form, etc., and ordered filed, as was also the report of the municipal court.

Charge Repairs to Owners.

The street commissioner's report regarding sidewalks, etc., was referred to the highway and bridge committee, who subsequently recommended that the cost of repairs be charged to the property owners.

Adopted.

Forty-two residents of the First ward, represented in three petitions, asked for the locating of gas lamps at points designated, the petitions stating that:

The blocks lying between Bluff and Ravine streets and between Ravine street and Mineral Point avenue are long blocks, and of much greater length than ordinary blocks in the city; that the blocks west of and including those on Madison street are fully occupied by residents who are tax payers; that the electric lights on Bluff and Ravine streets and Mineral Point avenue do not sufficiently light the center portions of said blocks; that the middle portion of said blocks are very dark in the night, when there is no moonlight; that in some of the streets west of and including Madison street, there are gas pipes and posts and the petitioners represented that it would add greatly to their convenience in the use of the streets between such long blocks if one or more gas lights could be placed at or near the center of said blocks, and they request that such arrangements be made.

The petitions were referred to the lighting committee and further time was afterward granted.

Cannot Stop the Smoke.

A petition signed by forty-two Second ward people regarding the smoke from the Light and Power Company's stack was received and referred to the aldermen of the Second ward.

Alderman Burnham afterward called on City Attorney McElroy who said that he did not think the council had the authority to interfere. The charter, in his opinion, did not cover the point and the people's redress was in the courts.

The profile and grade of Sharon and South Main streets were received, referred to the highway committee and further time granted.

City Engineer Bleedorn reported the result of his investigation of the encroachments on Jackson street in Rockport saying that he found:

The southeast corner of George Schaller's barn is 35-100 feet in the street. Mrs. Barnes' barn is at southwest corner of same, 8-10 feet in the street, and at northeast corner 7-10 feet in the street. There is also a short piece of fence that joins onto Mrs. Barnes' barn on the south that is also partly in the street. The westerly corner of Spellman's barn is 16-6-10 feet in the street, while the southerly corner of said barn is 6-8-10 feet in the street. The fence running from the southerly corner of Spellman's barn southerly to the northwesterly corner of the small shed on the southwest corner of Spellman's lot, is entirely in the street. The northwesterly corner of said small shed (then house) is 18-10 feet in the street.

The report was referred to the highway committee and further time granted.

The matter was referred to the highway committee and further time granted.

C. J. Murphy and William Boos presented petitions asking that they be paid twenty-five cents a week for sprinkling each street intersection (the space between the cross-walks), for which they had never received any compensation. The matter was referred to the highway committee and further time granted.

Ald. Heddles, of the finance committee reported in favor of paying a number of bills, and the report was adopted.

Ald. Kothman, from the park committee, reported that the committee had engaged John Horn to look after the parks from April 28, at $40 a month. The action of the committee was approved.

The Order Adopted.

The following orders were adopted: By Ald. McKee—Directing the city attorney to prepare and have printed proper blanks for applications to build in the fire limits and for wiring buildings with electric wires.

Also that the street commissioner put in a catch basin two by four feet curbed with plank, on the southeast corner of Main and Milwaukee streets.

By Ald. McLean—Directing the street commissioner to repair the culvert on the south side of Clarion street across Gold and the south side of Clarion street across Emmett.

By Ald. Heddles—Directing the street commissioner to build a block cross-walk on the west side of Madison street across Jackson street and Mineral Point avenue.

Also that the city engineer examine and report to the council such plan as may be best adapted to carry off the water from Magnolia avenue and to protect said street from injury by water.

Also that the city engineer make and file the profile and specifications of a grade for Maple court in Bump & Smith's addition.

Also that the salary of the chief engineer of the fire department be fixed at $600, to be payable in equal monthly installments of $50 each, commencing on the first day of June 1896, and that the order be referred to the fire and water committee.

By Alderman Stoddard—Directing the street commissioner to remove the loose stones from the streets of the Second ward; also clean the gutters and fill the holes on North Bluff street to the city limits and if it should be found necessary to carry the water to put a tile drain or drains across Bluff street north of the gas house.

By Alderman Miltimore—Directing the street commissioner to put in a tile culvert at the intersection of Violet and Miltimore streets on the east side of Miltimore street across Violet.

Alderman McLean spoke of the need of street signs in the Fifth ward. Referred to the highway committee. Mayor Baines announced the appointment of Charles C. Russell to fill the vacancy in the public library board and on motion of Alderman McLean the appointment of Mr. Russell was confirmed.

Alderman Kothman stated that complaint had been made by parties residing on South River street that that portion between Rock and Galena streets was being used as a dumping ground. The residents did not object to gravel and dirt but they did object to garbage.

City Attorney McElroy said that there was an ordinance covering that point, and if any one would make the proper complaint to him he would see that the practice was stopped.

On Alderman Kothman's motion the city marshal was instructed to put up a sign there and at the "Lovejoy ravine" in the First ward, warning people to dump stuff there no more.

The appointment by the mayor of Charles Stark as weed commissioner was confirmed.

WARM PRAISE FOR MR. WARDE

The San Francisco Examiner Says Nice Things About Him.

The San Francisco Examiner, commenting on the merits of Frederick Warde in "King Lear," says: "Warde scored a decided success in the character, making the dotard king appear as terrible in his rage as any of the lears who have preceded him. His enunciation even at the moments when frame and limbs seemed palsied with passion was remarkably clear, and the audience was carried away by the manner in which he pronounced the curse on his daughter Goneril at the close of the second act.

"In the tempest scene, too, Warde was particularly good, and his manifested sympathy for the hunted and outlawed Edgar of Gloucester was in strong relief to the cursing and bemoaning extracted from him by contemplation of his own fate." The Examiner also compliments the supporting company lavishly. Warde will be here Thursday.

L. E. KNOX MYSTERY GROWS MORE DEEP

CIRCUMSTANCES WOULD RATHER INDICATE SUICIDE.

Friends Do Not Believe the Young Man Has Made Away With Himself, However, and Think He Will Turn Up Unharmed—Employers Think the Same.

Mrs. Anna R. Knox of this city, is in distress over the mysterious disappearance of her son, Lynn E. Knox. He left his boarding house in Chicago Saturday noon, and has not been seen since.

Mr. Knox, who was born and reared in this city, and was the son of G. Knox, for years proprietor of the Janesville book bindery, has been in the Chicago drug trade since 1870. He has been in the employ of Morrison & Plummer for fifteen years. The Chicago Tribune says:

"Mr. Knox boarded with Mrs. E. M. Cruger, No. 3310 1/2 Rhodes avenue. He left his boarding house on Saturday at noon with the avowed intention of killing himself and since that time, up to a late hour last night, had not been seen.

"Mr. Knox's last act, so far as his friends have knowledge of it, was to write half a dozen letters, which he sealed and took with him. The writing of these letters immediately followed a season of mental depression amounting to utter dejection.

"In the house at 3310 1/2 Rhodes avenue he was mourned for last night as dead. Mrs. Cruger had this to say of the missing man.

"Mr. Knox is dead. I know he is. The last thing he said to me Saturday noon was that he had better jump into the lake. He came home Friday night without his hat, explaining that he had lost it on the way home. The absence of the hat was his excuse for not going to business Saturday morning. He remained in his room all the morning writing letters. One, I know, was to his mother in Janesville, Wis., and another to his employers.

Borrow a Hat.

"After luncheon he borrowed my son's hat and started out. He was as dejected and low spirited as a man could be and said to me that he was going to kill himself. He was to have brought me the money for his last week's board on Saturday but it did not come. I suspected then something was wrong.

"Mr. Knox's troubles were of a monetary character. He has been out of work a good deal of the time for a number of years past and when he found employment it was at small wages. His creditors made life a burden to him and he was constantly in fear of losing his position through garnishee proceedings. He had been living with us for three years and we thought a good deal of him. He was kind and gentle. He took care of me once for several months when I was sick as well as a trained nurse could have done it."

His Employer's View.

"Though Knox had worked for Morrison, Plummer & Co. for years, the members of the firm knew little of him.

"He was the last man I would think of as a suicide," said Joseph Plummer yesterday, "and I know of no reason why he should kill himself. He was not at work Saturday, and there is a week's pay awaiting him at the office. He was a light-hearted man and a good clerk in his position as entry clerk."

Janesville friends are slow to believe that Mr. Knox has committed suicide. A few years ago he kept his whereabouts a secret from his relatives for a long time. It is believed that something of the sort will develop again. Telegrams to Chicago do not bring forth any details and add certainty to the suicide theory. Mr. Knox's mother is in feeble health and is much borne down by the suspense.

AMBITIOUS SOUTH TURTLE HEN

It Hatched Out An Eagle Bird of Freedom—Other News.

South Turtle, May 5—It isn't every old hen that can boast of hatching out an eagle as one owned by Mrs. Isham did the other day. Curt Freitag is able to attend school. Don't forget the Sunday school in the Murray schoolhouse every Sabbath afternoon. Rev. Cyrus Osborne and wife have returned from New Haven, Conn., and can now be found with Mrs. Osborn's parents. Delia Adams has been visiting among her schoolmates, and took in the Arbor Day exercises at the Murray schoolhouse Friday afternoon. Rosetta Blaser was home for Saturday and Sunday a week ago. Some are asking when is the next meeting of the Comfortable Society? A heavy rain storm visited us Friday. The neighboring creameries are well patronized in this section some some sending to Beloit, some to Allen's Grove while others send to the Nora creamery at Bergen. Mable Isham has been on the sick list and has been out of school in consequence. The children of the Murray district planted an elm on Arbor day. Parley Isham thinks potatoes are a pretty good thing and has put in three acres while Will Hamilton expects to put in five. A mistake was made in these notes last week. They said that Mrs. Blaser was in the poor house this spring when it should have been "Mrs. Blaser is in poor health this spring" but in no sense of the word in the poor house. Mrs. D. G. Smith's brother was in close proximity to the disastrous cyclone that swept South Dakota this spring, if indeed he was not right in it.

AFTON SOCIAL MUCH ENJOYED.

Attendance Was Good in Spite of the Bad Weather—Other News.

Afton, May 5—The ice cream social given by the young ladies of the Baptist church last Friday evening, was an unqualified success, despite the inclemency of the weather. One of the best musical and literary programmes ever rendered at an entertainment of this kind given here, was presented, and all present had an enjoyable time. Professor Charles Bacon, of Beloit college, will occupy the pulpit of the Baptist church next Sunday morning, and give a discourse on "Christian Education." The Baptist Sunday school voted Sunday to observe Children's day as usual, this year. One new member was adopted, and three applications for membership received, in Afton Camp M. W. A., at its meeting Saturday evening. The boys are getting in line for the big picnic, June 10. Mrs. Ayres has moved to Norwalk, Wis., where her son George has a position as night operator for the C. & N. W. railway. Miss Alice E. Eldredge spent last week with Beloit friends. James Pankhurst died at his residence about two and one-half miles north of Afton last Saturday morning, at 9 o'clock, death resulting from Bright's disease. Deceased was seventy years of age. His wife preceded him to the other world about two years ago. He leaves one son, A. J. Pankhurst, who resides on the homestead. The funeral was held Monday at 3 p. m., from the Baptist church here, the pastor, C. D. Mayhew, officiating. The interment was in Afton cemetery.

The Magnolia News.

Magnolia, May 5.—W. B. Andrew is helpless in bed with inflammatory rheumatism. Dr. Lacy is his attending physician. Will and Edward Acheson have all the painting they can attend to. George Acheson and family were in town Monday. Mrs. R. A. Becker and Mrs. Maud Royer and children took their departure for Hankinson, Dakota, last Thursday. Mrs. B. A. Becker has sold her place to Mrs. Lucius Andrew for $110. Mr. and Mrs. Mattice, Mr. George Bahr and wife, Mrs. Dosi and Mr. and Mrs. Will Acheson went to Albany Sunday on a fishing excursion. Mrs. Brown and son Nito returned from Chicago last Friday. Jennie Howard, who has been visiting here the past two weeks, returned to her home in Albany Sunday. Memorial services will be held in the Advent church May 30. There will be music, singing and speaking followed by decorating of soldiers graves with flags and flowers. Let everybody come this year and do honor to the occasion.

South Clinton News.

South Clinton, May 5—The prayer meeting at E. L. Benedict's was well attended. Mr. Benedict proving himself a most excellent leader. Clarence Crandall of Dolan, South Dakota, visited friends here last week. Frank Westby passed his seventy-ninth milestone last week with his daughter, Mrs. Soper. The next prayer meeting will probably be at Mr. Jacke's. E. L. Benedict is putting in some twelve acres of potatoes this year. A heavy rain storm visited this section last Friday, accompanied by some hail. Orchards were never fuller of blossoms or prospects better for fruit. Dexter Northup has a son in the track of the South Dakota cyclone. Two dangerously sick horses kept W. E. Dresser up a good share of the night last week.

TO HELP ARRANGE THE CELEBRATIONROCK COUNTY DELEGATION IS IN MILWAUKEE.

Plans to Be Made For the Marking of the Semi-Centennial of the State—Sketches of Mrs. John Winans and the Other Members From This County.

Captain W. T. Vankirk, Alderman George M. McKey, and Mrs. John Winans went to Milwaukee this morning to attend the meeting to arrange for the state semi-centennial celebration. Captain Vankirk and Mr. McKey are members of the committee of one hundred, while Mrs. Winans is a member of the Woman's Advisory committee. The Milwaukee Sentinel this morning printed the portraits of the Janesville members, while Mrs. Winans' portrait was also printed in the Chicago Times-Herald. President Eaton of Beloit college is also a member of the committee from this district. The Sentinel gives the following biographical sketches of the Rock County representative:

"President Edward Dwight Eaton of Beloit college, was born at Lancaster, Wis., January 12, 1851; graduated from Beloit college in 1873 and from Yale Divinity school in 1875; was married in 1875 to Martha E. Barber, daughter of Hon. J. Allen Barber; studied in the University of Leipzig and in Heidelberg, 1875-6; was pastor of the Congregational church at Newton, Ia. 1876-79; at Oak Park, Ill., 1880-86; was elected president of Beloit college on the resignation of President Chapin in 1886; received the degree of doctor of laws from the University of Wisconsin in 1877, and the doctor of divinity from Northwestern University at Evanston, the same year. During the past ten years the college has increased 150 per cent. in the number of students, and more than that in resources and equipment.

"Mrs. John Winans, the talented wife of the Janesville ex-congressman, was a member of the Wisconsin World's Fair commission, upon which she gave most efficient service. She 'discovered' Miss Miner and Miss Mears, whose accomplishments as designers reflected great credit on the state at the fair. Mrs. Winans is a ready speaker and can be depended upon to give her best efforts to the work of the Auxiliary board.

"Captain William T. Vankirk, of Janesville, is a well known and enterprising citizen. He is a manufacturer.

"George M. McKey, of Janesville, is a lumber dealer.

Catarrh is a local, not a blood disease, caused by sudden change to cold or damp weather. It starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat. Cold in the head causes excessive flow of mucus, and, if repeatedly neglected, the results of catarrh will follow: severe pain in the head, a roaring sound in the ears, bad breath, and oftentimes an offensive discharge. The remedy should be quick to allay inflammation and heal the membrane.

GOOD FORM FOR COLLECTORS.

Tom Hannum Stood on Ceremony and Was "Not at Home."

The death of Tom Hannum, one time a well-known habitue of the press galleries on both sides of the capitol, was sincerely deplored among old-time members yesterday and some amusing anecdotes were told of the popular newspaper man by his friends in the course of the day, says the Washington post. One of the best is worth repeating.

Hannum was in the habit of taking a late breakfast at the Press Club every morning. On one occasion, while he was vigorously discussing a hearty repast of ham and eggs, a bill collector suddenly walked up to Hannum's side and laid his account before him. Hannum looked at the bill and then at the collector and in a deliberate tone began:

"You blamed fool, can't you observe the amenities of ordinary civilized society? Don't you know that a man's club is like his home and that you are in danger of being summarily ejected for coming in here without being introduced? The rules of this club require that if you have business with a member to wait in the lobby outside until a waiter takes in your card and ascertains whether the gentleman with whom you have business is present. Now, you go into the lobby—take this bill with you—and comply with the rules of this club."

The collector apologized for the infraction of the rules of the Press Club, which, to tell the truth, were never enforced on anything, and waited until the steward came to ascertain his wishes.

"Please announce me to Mr. Hannum," said the collector.

The steward told him to wait and he carried the man's card to Hannum, who looked at it carefully, then handed it back to the steward and said: "Not at home."

DRESSMAKERS TO THE WORLD.

There Are 65,000 of Them in the French Capital.

Paris is the city where the dress-making trade flourishes as it does in no other spot in the world. In 1850 the number of couturieres, as given in the "Annuaire du Commerce," the commercial directory of those days, was only 158. There were besides sixty-seven shops for the sale of ready made feminine apparel, but there were none, as there are to-day, which sold lingerie or certain articles exclusively. In the "Bottin" (as the Paris directory is familiarly known) of 1895 there are 1,634 couturieres and 296 commercial houses for the sale of ready-made garments, besides many establishments which manufacture and sell "jupons de deuous" or under petticoats alone. The number of working dressmakers in Paris is estimated at 65,000. In all France, according to M. Georges Michel, the industry of manufacturing the various articles of woman's dress is in the hands of 81,400 male and 143,648 female owners of shops or factories. These furnish employment to 700,801 persons, of whom over 500,000 are women. In addition to these there are 925,855 persons who make their living from industries which are tributary to that of the manufacture of feminine apparel. The total value of the product of this labor from so many hands is estimated at $50,000,000.

New and Peculiar Mineral.

The news has reached this city of a peculiar kind of mineral called apyrite. It is about 93 per cent silica and is consequently very hard to work. It is being worked, however, in Bavaria. It is said that when mixed with water it forms a plastic, sticky mass, which when dried, becomes firm and resisting while its volume does not change when exposed to the fire; further, melted metals and scoria do not cling to it, and so apyrite has been found useful for lining furnaces. In the neighborhood of the mines apyrite tempered with water is used instead of lime water and also for plastering. It has in some places superseded fire-brick lining, as in the case of various furnaces. The cupola of a large foundry can be thus lined in a day by two men and it is said that such a lining lasts longer than one of the same material made up into bricks. The substance has been proved useful for repairs to the firework lining of furnaces.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

The poet of the West Baden Journal sings thus: "Sing a song of penitence, a fellow full of rye, four and twenty serpents dancing before his eyes. When his eye was opened he shouted for his life, wasn't he a pretty chump to go before his wife? His hat was in the parlor, underneath a chair, his boots were in the hall, his coat was on the stair. His trousers in the kitchen, his collar on the shelf, but he hadn't any notion where he was at himself."

JAKE HELLER BOLTS BECAUSE OF A CUT

Turns his back on the Democratic Party.

Mayor Baines, He Says, Did Not Appoint Him Weed Commissioner, Although He Had Carried Banners For Forty-two Years and Rendered Signal Party Services.

After fighting valiantly in the ranks of the democratic party for forty-two years, and carrying all the flags, Jacob Heller, one of the wheelhorses of that organization in Janesville, today turned his back on the party of mistakes and broken promises, and swore his allegiance to the false faith.

Mayor Baines is responsible. During the past forty-two years, Mr. Heller has served his party faithfully and well. Candidates, knowing of his influence, have always sought his help, and it has been freely given.

"See Jacob Heller," has always been the first advice given to a candidate for office, and it has always been taken. Mr. Heller has always sacrificed his personal convenience for the good of the cause, and no man has been more unflagging in his party service.

But the mayor "turned him down." Wanted an Honorary Office

Two years ago Mr. Heller was a candidate for the high office of weed commissioner—a position of more honor than pecuniary profit—but he wasn't appointed. He felt slighted, but said nothing, and like many other patriots, refused to sacrifice his party fealty to the disappointment of his personal ambition. He accepted work in the commission's department in lieu of the position itself and kept his own counsel. No man heard him complain and no one saw him falter.

Last night Mayor Baines appointed another weed commissioner in the person of Charles Stark. Then Mr. Heller's wrath arose within him. He thought of the work he had done without remuneration, and became sore distressed.

He bolted.

Quits Carrying the Banner.

"I carry no more democrat flags yet," we declared to a Gazette man this morning, "and I vote no more democrat tickets already. I am done with 'em!"

"Since 1854 I have been a democrat and I have carried more flags and banners than any man in the United States. Mayor St. John and Mayor Croft and all the others did a little something for me. When Baines was nominated he came to me and said:

"You do what you can for me Jake, and I'll take care of you."

"I get plenty of votes for him and work like everything—for him and and he get elected already. He say he appoint me weed commissioner, but he not do it, he appoint Clem Noyes. When I asked him about it, he say:

"Well Jake, I couldn't appoint you, but you get a job cutting weeds."

And He Did Cut Weeds.

"And I did cut weeds—got a few days work but the other fellow, he got a hundred dollars. Then last night the mayor appoint Charles Stark—a man who didn't vote for him at all. The books will show that Stark didn't vote at all that year—but he get the place, while I, who carry flags and banners, and do work—I get nothing. I say this is mean business. I want no more democrat business—from now on I want republican business. I have been a democrat since 1854, and I have a few democrat flags at home now. I go from here home and throw them in the river once. I work like Peter for all of them fellows, and then I get nothing. You write a piece about it, and I stand by it. I carry all of the banners since 1854, about the town. Today I carry them to the river and throw them in."

"Der teufel mid' der demokrats! Don-nervetter!! Noch mal!!!"

TWO NEW DWELLINGS BEGAN.

DEATHS FELL WORK IN A SINGLE DAY

MRS. G. G. CHITTENDEN CALLED TO REST.

Bride of But Six Months Summoned After a Painful Illness of Two Weeks' Duration—Death of Mrs. William Smith—Miss Nora Brossnan No More—Other Deaths.

The happiness that came to Dr. George G. Chittenden with the wedding bells that rang just six months ago last Friday, was changed to the deepest sorrow that man can know at 8:30 o'clock this morning when death entered the cozy home and took therefrom the bride of those few weeks and bore her spirit to the home beyond the skies.

Miss Jeanette Lawrence was born at Manchester, Iowa, and was married to Dr. George G. Chittenden on December 1, last. Dr. Chittenden brought his bride to this city, and they had just gotten nicely settled in their home on the corner of Main and Court streets when Mrs. Chittenden was attacked with spinal meningitis. All that medical skill and careful nursing could do, was done, but the progress of the affection could not be stayed, and death came as the final chapter to the siege of suffering that had extended over two long weeks.

Mrs. Chittenden leaves beside her husband, upon whom the blow falls with crushing force, a mother and two sisters, all of whom reside at Manchester. She was an active worker in the Court Street M. E. church, and a member of Janesville Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made, but the interment will be made at Oak Hill.

Mrs. William Smith.

After a lingering illness of many months, Mrs. William Smith died at 5:30 o'clock this morning, at the home of her son, O. E. Smith, at the corner of Academy and Wall streets, the cause of her death being old age. Mrs. Smith was eighty-six years of age. She was born in Brandenburg, Germany, October 21, 1810, and came to this country in 1854. For the past twenty-six years she has resided with her son. The funeral services will be held from the residence at 9 o'clock Thursday morning, to be conducted by Rev. J. C. Koerner, of St. Paul's Lutheran church, the interment to be made at Whitewater.

Miss Nora T. Brossnan.

Miss Nora T. Brossnan died at the home of her mother, Mrs. Brossnan, 152 North Jackson street at eight o'clock this morning aged 25 years. Miss Brossnan had been afflicted with consumption for a year or more and it was that unrelenting disease that caused her death. She leaves beside her mother, three brothers and one sister. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Joseph Conroy.

Joseph Conroy died at the home of his mother, Mrs. Mary Conroy, on Benton avenue, yesterday, aged twenty-nine years. Mr. Conroy had been a patient sufferer with consumption for two years and there had been no hope for his recovery. He leaves a widow and one child.

The funeral will be held from St. Mary's church at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Funeral of Mrs. Joyce.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Joyce of the town of Johnstown was held this morning at 11 o'clock from St. Mary's church. The Rev. E. J. Roche officiated and the interment was in Mount Olivet cemetery. The pall bearers were Nicholas Mahon, Martin Connors, Patrick Quigley, John Fannan, Orlin White and Andrew Pierce.

Loose clothes and downy cushions bring only a negative sort of comfort to the woman who is suffering with some disease or derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Some clothes and some positions make the pain and discomfort seem less. Perhaps the nerves are most affected and this in turn disturbs the digestion. Nothing will ever completely relieve but a radical cure. The start of so-called "female complaints" may be a very slight thing indeed. It may be that in the beginning some small hygienic measures would stop the trouble. Certainly at this time, a little bit of the right medicine would stop it. When the trouble becomes worse, it is harder to cure, but still it can be cured. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will positively cure any trouble of this character. It may be absolutely relied upon. It affords lasting relief to a woman whose natural modesty has kept her from consulting physicians.

MONEY ON LOAN,

DO YOU EVER THINK?

Do you ever think as the horse drives by that it won't be long till you and I will both ride out in the big, plumed hack and we'll never, never, never ride back?

Do you ever think as you strive for gold that a dead man's hand can't a dollar hold? We may tug and toil and pinch and save, and we'll lose it all when we reach the grave.

Do you ever think as you closely clasp your bag of gold with a firmer grasp if the hungry hearts of the world were fed it might bring peace to your dying bed?

—L. A. W. Bulletin.

FOUNDED ON FACT.

"Mr. Rogers, did you say?"

"Yes, sir; a tall, middle aged gentleman," replied my servant.

I could recollect no acquaintance of the name.

"Ask him to step in here," I said at length.

The man who entered my study was a complete stranger to me. He was tall, between 40 and 50 years of age, rather thin and very angular in his movements. He wore a short beard, was slightly bald and had decidedly pleasant features. When he smiled, his eyes seemed to sparkle and he exhibited two excellent rows of teeth.

"I am afraid I am quite unknown to you," he began.

I bowed my head and wondered what was coming next.

"But your name as a rising young novelist and writer of short stories is, of course, familiar to me."

Who could he be? I began to have visions of publishers and editors clamoring at my door for contributions from my pen. Was he about to give me a commission for a new serial? Perhaps he represented some leading magazine and was prepared to pay sums undreamed of for my tales of love and adventure. Or was he only some newspaper interviewer bent on satisfying the curiosity of his readers respecting my opinions and manner of life?

"Pray be seated," I said.

We sat facing one another on opposite sides of the hearth rug. It was a cold, dull November day, and the bright fire that burned in the grate was comforting. Mr. Rogers took from his pocket a copy of a popular magazine and held it on his knee.

"Capital story that of yours!"

"Which?" I asked.

"That last one in here," he said, tapping the covers of the book, "the story called 'The Mystery of Rowner's Mill.'"

"I am glad you like it, but really—"

"A splendid story! Rather daring though."

"Daring?"

"Yes—to publish a story of real life as mere fiction."

"I don't understand what?"

"But why did you make Mabel a dark girl? Of course she was fair, as you know. Her real name was Mabel, but that doesn't matter."

"You are quite!"

"Still, you have hit off Maltby to a T."

"The story, I assure you, was—"

"Written under pressure of time? Yes, I have no doubt of it. But your description of the old mill is exact. Rowner's Mill is, of course, Radford's Mill, near B—."

"Allow me to explain!"

"Quite unnecessary, I assure you. You were perfectly justified in changing the name. But that passage in which you describe the act of vengeance on Maltby is remarkably powerful and accurate. Ah! here it is: 'Seeing his victim powerless, Jasper Gore, with the strength of a giant, seized him in his arms and for one moment held him above his head in front of the open window. Then he hurled the wretched man into space. Down, down he fell, until, with a splash that was inaudible amid the roar and rattle of the mill, Maltby disappeared in the deep water of the race, and was instantly battered to a shapeless mass by the huge revolving water wheel!'"

"But surely you know!"

"Oh, yes; I know every inch of the place. Of course you are a little bit rough on me."

"On you?"

"Yes; you see, Jasper Gore?"

I rose to my feet. So far I had hardly been able to get a word in edgeways. I had not the slightest idea what he was driving at. He was exhausting my patience.

"Look here, sir," I shouted warmly, "I haven't yet the pleasure of knowing who you are. What the—will you kindly tell me what you are talking about?"

"Why, my dear sir, I am talking about this story of yours called 'The Mystery of Rowner's Mill.' I was just saying that you have made me—otherwise Jasper Gore!"

"Gore is one of my characters. I understand your name is Rogers!"

The man leaned back and roared with laughter. I sank into my chair in a state of exasperation.

"Excuse my laughing," he said, "but when you put on that innocent air it is irresistibly funny. What does it matter which name I use, Gore or Rogers—are they not one and the same? What was easier? You took my real name, Rogers, rejected the last two letters, transposed the others, and then you had it—Gore!"

I was now quite out of temper.

"I don't know what your object is," I said, "in coming here and talking this nonsense. The story is pure fiction—a simple creation of my own brain—from beginning to end. So far as I know, the characters never lived, the incidents never happened, the mill described never had any existence—except in my own imagination."

My visitor watched me as I spoke, and a grin slowly broadened on his face, until he again burst into loud laughter.

"I should never have believed it!" he said.

"Believed what?"

"You novellists, it would appear, are so steeped in fiction that you lose all regard for truth."

"What do you mean, sir?" I cried indignantly.

"Is it necessary to explain? Here, in this magazine, I have a story every essential detail of which is actual truth, and you coolly tell me that it was all evolved out of your own brain!"

"Certainly. So it was."

"Now, what is the use of talking like that to me—to me? I am Rogers—"

Rogers is Gore. I call me by which name you like am the man whose acts are described in this story."

"Do you mean to sit there and tell me that you actually committed a crime identical with that I have described?"

"Precisely. I say the story is true in every essential detail. Every action of the plot, every motive of the characters, all the descriptions of places, and even portions of the dialogue are absolutely true. I say again I am Jasper Gore!"

Imagine my feelings! Never before in the history of fiction writing had so remarkable a thing happened. Some occult power had clearly been at work on my brain and directed me to write a story founded on fact in a degree that was simply marvelous. The situation was so extraordinary that it staggered me. I was here face to face with the murderous ruffian of my own creation.

What was to be done? I glanced at the bell at his elbow.

"Never mind the bell," he said. "We shall not want to use that. Listen to me!"

He brought his chair toward me until our knees were nearly touching. With his hands on his thighs and his body bent forward he fixed his penetrating eyes on mine.

"I have told you that I am Jasper Gore. But that is only one of the names under which authors have used me in relating my exploits. You are not the only writer who has employed my deeds in fiction. You have read Blandford's novel, 'The Red Witness?' Well, I am Paul Varnham, the man who poisoned his brother and threw the body into the limekiln. You have seen the story in the last number of The Masterpiece Magazine called 'The Case of Roland Wier?' I am Roland, the man who stole the bonds and stabbed to the heart the only witness to the deed. Why, the stains of the crime are still on my hands."

I shuddered visibly, and cold sweat was on my forehead.

"Metaphorically speaking," he added with a smile, "I suppose you have read?"

"Stop!" I cried. "What is it you want of me? Why do you come to tell me all this?"

"I came to make a proposal. I am a man of many deeds—crimes, you would call them. The world is getting too hot for me. I am in danger from the sleuth hounds of the law. Shelter me; hide me, and I will give you material for some of the most thrilling stories that ever were written. I can keep you going for the rest of your life—with facts, sir, facts!"

"The Rowner's Mill affair I don't know how you got hold of, but it was not obtained fairly. But I will not say anything about that. Stand by me, and I will make your fortune and your everlasting fame. Is it a bargain?"

To accept such a proposal never entered my mind for one moment. My only thought was to get this dreadful creature out of my house, whether what he said was true or not. How was I to do it?

Just then my servant knocked at the door and entered.

"Here is a gentleman wishes to see you, sir."

"Say you are engaged," said Rogers, rising from his chair and grasping me by the arm.

But the new arrival had already entered the room.

"Excuse me, sir," he said. "I have come for our good friend, Mr. Rogers. He lives with us at X—."

X— I knew to be the place where a certain county lunatic asylum stands. I saw everything in a flash. He handed Rogers over to the care of another man in the hall, and the poor fellow went as meekly as a lamb. Then the attendant came back to me.

"I hope he has not alarmed you, sir. He escaped two days ago."

"Well, he gave me an unpleasant half hour. The man seems to be steeped in crime."

"He's all right except on that point. He fancies that he is every criminal that he reads about in the story books. We traced him to your house, and I expect he has been pitching a lively yarn about some of his doings. Ah! I thought so. But, bless your heart, sir, the poor fellow wouldn't hurt a fly."

Nevertheless, he had knocked me off my work for that day.—London Tit-Bits.

How James Otis Was Killed.

James Otis was killed by a stroke of lightning in Andover, Mass., at the old Isaac Osgood farm, May, 1783. Mr. Otis wanted a mug of cider. The hired man went into the cellar to draw the cider, leaving the cellar door open. Mr. Otis was standing in the doorway at the side of the house looking at the clouds, remarking that a heavy shower was coming up. Scarcely had the words been spoken when the bolt came down, struck Mr. Otis and killed him instantly, then passed into a large beam in the cellarway, going the length of the beam to the cellar, where it went off into the ground. The hole in the beam was large enough to thrust one's arm down, as the writer has done when visiting the Osgood farm.—Boston Transcript.

The Man and the Clothes.

There was a Methodist minister who dressed so well that a friend felt horrified and offered to give him a suit of clothes and pay for them provided he could have them made according to his ideas. The offer was accepted, and the tailor was ordered to make a suit in the plainest possible fashion. The order was filled, and the suit was tried on. The giver of it was amazed. So magnificent was the form with which nature had endowed the minister that that plain Methodist suit upon him looked as if it had just been received from Paris.—Christian Advocate.

A Lively Young Duke.

The duke of Orleans served for a time in the English army, but was compelled to give up his connection in consequence of his childish behavior. He played no end of senseless tricks while stationed at Aldershot, was most insubordinate as regarded discipline, was forever taking advantage of the immunity due to his royal rank and finally was compelled to leave the army for having cut the ropes anchoring a captive balloon in which Gen. Sir Evelyn Wood and a couple of other field officers were taking observations during a sham battle. A strong wind was blowing and the balloon was carried up into the air and its occupants were unable to effect a descent until at a distance of some thirty miles from Aldershot. Sir Evelyn complained directly, not only to the duke of Cambridge but also the queen herself, who has never liked the young duke, and who immediately responded to Sir Evelyn's communication by intimating to the comte and comtesse de Paris that she could no longer permit their son to continue his military training in her army.—Exchange.

Religion Not Invented.

Whoever to-day will say that religion is invented writes himself down as out of rhyme and reason with the fuller science of the age. The science of comparative religions has made one thing clear, that religion, the universal phenomenon of humanity, found everywhere, at the belt of the equator, the eternal equinoxes, as well as in the arctic zones, that religion in the savage races as well as among the cultured peoples, owes its existence to a human need, deeply planted in the human heart.—Dr. Emil G. Hirsch.

Modern Skepticism.

The skeptic has cultivated the critical faculty. It is not an inferior faculty. It destroys, but it does not build up. A child can pick a flower to pieces, but it takes God to make one.—Rev. A. P. Orth.

Mr. Huggins and Miss Dimple had been discussing marriage in an impersonal manner, when the young lady announced her preference in this way: "The man I marry must be handsome, talented, amiable, courageous, and without a fault of any sort whatever."

ANNA IVOR'S REQUEST.

Personal letters reach Mrs. Pinkham by thousands; some asking advice, and others, like the following, telling of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done and will ever continue to do in eradicating those fearful female complaints so little understood by physicians.

All womb and ovarian troubles, irregularities, whites, bearing-down pains, displacements, tendency to cancer and tumor are cured permanently.

"I feel as if I owed my life to your Vegetable Compound. After the birth of my babe I was very miserable. I had a drawing pain in the lower part of my bowels, no strength, and a terrible backache. Every day I failed. My husband said if I would try a bottle of your Vegetable Compound, he would get it for me. The change was wonderful. After I had taken the first half bottle I began to have great faith in it. When I had taken three bottles, I was well and growing stout. It is a pleasure for me to write this to you. I only ask women in any way afflicted with female troubles to try it."—Mrs. ANNA IVOR, Pittsford Mills, Rutland Co., Vt.

ABOVE BUTTONS.

One Mamma's System Whereby Her Boy Was Made Independent.

Benny had reached the advanced age of 5 years and a manly spirit swelled within his small bosom, says the New York Herald. He scorned the hitherto welcome assistance of Norah, the nurse, and announced to mamma that he intended to learn to dress himself. Proud of her boy's independence, mamma spent a wearisome half hour one morning in trying to teach the small, awkward fingers the mysteries of fitting each button to its own buttonhole, but alas! the buttons were so many that Benny's courage, like that of many an older person in the face of difficulties, wavered and finally succumbed. The next morning Benny announced that he was ill and did not want to get up. Upon cross-examination it was found that Benny had not a soul above buttons; the buttons were too many for him and he preferred staying in bed to tackling them.

But this was the time for mamma to assert herself, and she had no intention of allowing Benny to turn back the first time that he put his hand to the plow. To do this would establish a precedent that might prove serious. At the same time, like a tactful diplomat, she preferred to accomplish by strategy what it might not be so easy to do by force. A well-meaning but injudicious friend had given Benny a dime bank, which it had become his one purpose in life to see filled, not for the sake of the dimes, but just to "see it open."

The buttons were counted, and from the warm underwear to the high shoes proved to be fifty in number, so five dimes were promised Master Benny the first time he succeeded in buttoning them all. The task was huge, but so was the reward, and in less than a week Benny had accomplished the one and earned the other.

But one swallow does not make a summer. Dressing was still a tedious operation, and Benny showed signs of lapsing from the path of industry or virtue, when a further reward was held out of three dimes for the first week that Benny should dress himself entirely alone, two for the second week and one for the third, a financial retrogression, it is true, but a decided progression in knowledge and acquisitions, for by the time the ten dimes had been safely housed in the fascinating bank what Benny didn't know about buttons wasn't worth knowing. He needed no valet, and he was a hero in his own and mamma's eyes.

BALLOONING WITH A LION.

A Parisienne, Said to Be a Countess, Will Do This to Benefit Sick Soldiers.

A young and attractive woman in Paris, who is said to be a countess, proposes to go from Marseilles to Paris in a balloon with a lion as her companion. She is what they call in France a lion-tamer. She is said to be a countess, and this extraordinary performance is to be for the benefit of the sick soldiers who have survived the Madagascar expedition.

It is by no means certain, however, that she will be able to make this unique trip. A few nights ago she had a dangerous adventure in her wild-beast cage. She had scarcely closed the door when Tzar, the most savage and ferocious lion of the lot, sprang at her and clawed her in the breast and arm. A panic ensued in the menagerie, and a rush was made for the entrance, but the brave countess stood her ground undeterred and managed to beat the lion off. Then she straightened herself up and made Tzar go through his usual performance. The panic was allayed and the spectators began to wildly applaud the courageous woman.

Undissuaded by this adventure, she insists that she will give her balloon performance at an early date with the same lion that attacked her. Yet she is but a new hand at lion-taming. She began to exhibit herself with wild animals in a Parisian music-hall, and went from there to Lyons, thence to Marseilles. She is not appearing under her family name.

Value of a College Training.

The oft-debated question as to the value of college training seems to us to hardly be an open question at all. The fact set over against the college training is usually the manifest one that a great many forceful men have managed to make their own way and to accomplish great things without the curriculum of the college. These are persons of such great force that they could not be kept down even by great disadvantages. But such persons are rare outside colleges or within them. They might have been still more capable men by the aid of college training.

It is well known that many such persons have lamented their disadvantages. It would be difficult to show what harm a college training could have done them. But colleges, like many other institutions, are for the average person, and we cannot conceive but that the average person is always better for the help which the college course gives. While we find some persons who are conspicuous for their abilities and capacities who have not been regularly educated, the fact is the majority of people in high places are college men.—New York Ledger.

Mrs. Kate Stokes Stetson Dead.

SWORE HE DROVE THE CAB.

Sensations at the Newport Murder Trial.—Witness Under Bond for Perjury. Newport, Ky., May 5.—Monday's proceedings in the Jackson murder trial have been replete with sensations. A strange story told by a railroad man of Urbana, Ill., the statement of a man who knew nothing about the case being requested to swear to certain facts, and the subsequent placing of two men under bond for perjury and subornation of perjury, kept the large audience gathered in the court-room in a buzz of excitement. For several days it has been quietly whispered about that the defense had succeeded in locating the man who drove the cab to the Highlands, as well as the woman in whose residence Pearl Bryan died. Detective John Seward has been at work for the defense since Feb. 15 and it was said he had worked up a strong case. Tonight Seward is under bond suspected of having been guilty of subornation of perjury and contempt of court, and William Trusty of Urbana, Ill., who Col. Nelson in a speech to the court declared was a partner of Seward has only been released from custody by Col. Crawford signing his bond. The commonwealth, through its counsel, say they will show that Trusty, who is distantly related to Seward, came here to testify at the request of the latter and that his story is untrue in every detail.
